

Hoarders

Hoarders is an A&E reality television show that focuses on people that engage in compulsive hoarding. I watched the first four episodes and could not believe my eyes. There are people that collect things, store things and buy knick-knacks, and then there are hoarders. Hoarders are the extreme versions of those that like to collect and store things in their homes.

Some people hoard junk, others hoard clothes, food, and animals. Hoarders seem to come in all types. This is a reality television show and can be quite shocking at times so viewer discretion is advised. To see a sample of what this show is like, watch the advertisement for it on A&E below.

Posted by Burl C. on January 10, 2011

Blogs:

Sights and Sounds

Information, Answers & Reviews

Reviews Titles:

Hoarders. The complete season one [videorecording]