Leon doesn't have the best fine motor skills, and that's not a good thing considering his school's motto is "Nimble fingers make nimble minds." When Leon and his friends arrive for the first day of 4th grade, they discover their new teacher doesn't fit the common mold: She wears all black (including her cape), uses glass eyes as accessories, her hair is possibly fake and attached to her head with Velcro...oh, and she's obsessed with sewing! How will Leon survive the 4th grade and move onto 5th if he can't even thread the needle?
