Write a review of the book, including plot points, if you wish:

Louisa Barrett is a headmistress in Buffalo, New York. The year is 1901, the town is industrially booming from the nearby Niagara Falls power plant, and Louisa is a friend of and protected by the men in her city. When a loose acquaintance of hers falls through the ice and freezes to death late one night, Louisa discovers she may not be as protected as she once thought. Unfortunate events suck Louisa into the battle of politicians, power brokers, and industrialists as she becomes a woman in the secret world of men.

Would you recommend this book?:

This book is part-mystery, part-love story, and all interesting. The first-person telling of the story allows the audience complete access to Louisa's extraordinary awareness of her own and other's reactions and reasonings. I highly recommend this book.
